IN HOME WATERS.

Monster Fleet Ends World Voyage.

Battleships Meet Hurricane as They Near Hampton Roads.

Sweethearts and Wives Flock to Greet Loved Ones Long Absent.

Huge Crowds "Stuff" Hotels. Plans for Reception Are Complete.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
U.S. CONNECTICUT, AT SEA, VIA U.S.S. YANKEE, Feb. 21, 1909.—The battleship fleet in ninety miles southeast of Cape Henry in line of squadrons. Speed ten knots. Will arrive on schedule time; slowing down if necessary. Strong southwest winds during the night of 19th, increased to fresh westerly gales. All battleships pitched heavily, but made satisfactory progress.

The weather moderated on night of 20th. The cruisers North Carolina and Montana joined the fleet at 11 a. m. on 19th, after heavy weather causing some delay, making a total of thirty ships, the strongest fleet ever brought together under the American flag.

FLEET IN HURRICANE.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
FORT MONROE (Va.) Feb. 21.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Uncle Sam's sixteen battleships, back from their world-girdling cruise, will poke their noses over the horizon east of Cape Charles at daybreak tomorrow. At noon in their full glory, they will steam majestically to their anchorage.

The advance guard of the fleet, the Panther, steamed into Old Point Comfort today, bringing a story of a terrific storm which compelled the fleet to leave to all of Friday night, and to steam at reduced speed during part of Saturday.

It was a hurricane which the Panther "the machine shop" of the fleet, encountered and the same blow struck the sixteen battleships with increased force as they were following a course 100 miles north of that taken by the Panther.

Wireless messages picked up by the Panther showed that at 8 o'clock this morning the fleet was 80 miles from Hampton Roads and steaming at about ten miles per hour. They told also of the storm through which the battleships passed. It was figured to night by naval experts that the fleet will probably arrive to come over the horizon just before daylight.

At 5 o'clock, the fleet was in latitude 35 north, longitude 72 45 west. President Roosevelt will arrive in Hampton Roads on the Mayflower at 9 o'clock in the morning and from the glory of the fleet, there in December 1907, he bade farewell to sailors, he will at 11 o'clock be saluted by the fire of the ships to start for her anchorage.

SWEETHEARTS AND WIVES.
While the ships are slowly steaming toward Cape Charles tonight, there is assembled in the Hotel Chamberlaine and other hostleries along the coast a crowd whose nerves are tensely strung, and whose eagerness to see, feel and embrace their husbands, brothers and sweethearts from whom they have been separated for fourteen months, has become a sort of mingled excitement and frenzy. There is an air of expectancy and suppressed excitement which is different from anything that has ever been known along Hampton Roads.

Women sit about from one group of friends to another, shaking hands with persons they saw but a moment before, whispering briefly to a particularly intimate friend and reading aloud wireless telegrams which have come to them from the sea.

They have been patient for many months and now that those they love are almost within speaking distance, they can hardly control their feelings of joy and expectancy. The telegraph stations in all the hotels are fairly deluged by the women relatives of the brave men who have taken the squadron around the globe. They want to keep on sending messages. They implore the operators who are almost smothered beneath dispatches to rush their messages so that "he will get it before it is too late and will surely come ashore immediately."

ROMANCE AND TRAGEDY.
There are women here who were brides of a week when the fleet started, and whose only communication since with husbands have been by letter. There are other women here with babies whom the father has never seen; there are still other women married and fearful who have stories of death to tell to their husbands. Romance and tragedy are strangely intermingled, but above it all there is a keynote of gladness and cheerfulness and good feeling that makes a strong impression on one.

There was much disappointment among the expectant wives and sisters and sweethearts today when it was

RESULTS OF CRUISE SEEN BY GOVERNORS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Governors of the various States were asked today to wire their opinions on the value to the United States and their own States of the around-the-world naval cruise, ending tomorrow at Hampton Roads. Some of the replies follow:

NECESSITY OF CANAL.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
TALLAHASSEE (Fla.) Feb. 21.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The voyage of the fleet demonstrated the great length of time incidental to assembling the same and the length of time necessary to reach the Pacific Coast, thus demonstrating the necessity for the Panama canal as a war and peace measure.

It demonstrated the length of time necessary for the fleet to reach the Philippines. It demonstrated that a nation possessed of a suitable fleet should, coincident with a declaration of war, land a quarter to a half million men on the Philippines, we could not land there afterward even a brigade.

It demonstrated the weakness of the Republican policy in not neutralizing the Philippines. It demonstrated the folly of spending billions of dollars and thousands of lives in the army of occupation, in educating people who do not want to be educated, and in assimilation of people whom we can't assimilate, and who don't want to be assimilated—Albert W. Gilchrist, Governor of Florida.

NEED OF PACIFIC COAST.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SALEM (Or.) Feb. 21.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The naval cruise will have a very beneficial effect. First, it creates between the people of this and other countries a spirit of friendliness which could be brought about in no other way. Second, the cruise will be an educational factor and impress the powers that the United States in time of peace is prepared for war. Third, the cruise is an educational one to the men composing the navy, and the benefits to be derived from it cannot be estimated. Fourth, I deem it proper to conclude to say that a strong force ought to be maintained in the Pacific waters, because if we have international complications the Pacific must be, in my opinion, the battleground—George E. Chamberlain, Governor of Oregon.

ARRIVER OF PEACE.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
TOPERA (Kan.) Feb. 21.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The battleship cruise around the world demonstrates that the American people have an efficient war fleet. It is an object lesson of American naval skill in shipbuilding and navigation to all the world. It has given our young men a training which will be invaluable if war should come, and has proved, in many distant lands, the good will which America feels toward the other nations of the earth. The results vindicate the wisdom of our matchless President—W. R. Stubbs, Governor of Kansas.

AIDS NAVAL EXPANSION.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SALT LAKE (Utah) Feb. 21.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The voyage of the fleet demonstrated the great length of time incidental to assembling the same and the length of time necessary to reach the Pacific Coast, thus demonstrating the necessity for the Panama canal as a war and peace measure.

It demonstrated the length of time necessary for the fleet to reach the Philippines. It demonstrated that a nation possessed of a suitable fleet should, coincident with a declaration of war, land a quarter to a half million men on the Philippines, we could not land there afterward even a brigade.

RED RIOT LOOSED.

Race War in South Omaha.

Three Shot and a Score Hurt in Fierce Attack on Greek Colony.

Furious Mob Sets Fire to Many Houses in the Foreign Quarter.

State Representatives Stir the Crowd With Bitter Speeches.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
OMAHA (Neb.) Feb. 21.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Three persons were shot, and a score of others injured by heavy missiles and many houses partly destroyed by fire and axes tonight as the result of a race riot between hundreds of men of South Omaha and the members of the Greek colony there.

The attack on the Greeks followed a mass meeting where violence was urged by the speakers, among whom were two members of the State Legislature and a former city attorney. The meeting was called after hundreds of men had signed a petition in which the Greeks were charged with serious crimes against girls and women.

The speakers referred to the murder of Patroclus, Edward Lowery, who was shot and killed on Friday by a Greek whom he had placed under arrest. The slayer had been arrested while in the room of an American girl.

When the meeting broke up with the intention of meeting again tonight, a crowd of men (the mob) gathered in the neighborhood of Twenty-sixth and I streets.

They were determined to punish some of the leaders of the Greeks, but when two of the mob, Frank Sweeney and Joseph Gamble, both young boys, were injured in the attack on the first house by shots fired from the interior, some one began to apply the torch.

RAID SALOON.
Two blocks east another crowd smashed the front of a saloon and attempted to pillage the interior, when a squad of police charged the crowd and prevented the mob from securing the liquor.

A third crowd rushed to Twenty-fourth and I streets, and attacked a confectionery store run by Demos Brothers. The big plate glass windows were quickly smashed, the doors kicked in, and the stock and show cases destroyed.

Mrs. Mary Demos and her aged father were in the store and both narrowly escaped death at the hands of the mob. The injured boys are Frank Sweeney and Joseph Gamble, about 15 years of age, who received part of the contents of a shotgun fired into the crowd by the maddened Greeks.

The others persons injured were all foreigners, and after their wounds were dressed they were sent to their homes.

MOB GROWS MAD.
A crowd of perhaps 600 or 1000 quickly gathered to augment the size of the mob and a general assault was begun on the homes and business places of the Greeks.

This attack was centered at Twenty-sixth and Q streets, the principal Greek quarter. The maddened crowd began its work of destruction by throwing stones and bricks through the windows of stores and houses known to be occupied by Greeks. In a very short time havoc was made with the fronts of these places, and the stocks of the stores were quickly laid waste.

Three attacks were made almost simultaneously, and the destruction was completed before Chief of Police Briggs could get his scattered forces together.

SHERIFF TO RESCUE.
Meantime Sheriff Braloy collected all the deputies possible and rushed them to South Omaha to aid the police. It took some time to organize this force and during the interval the Greeks were attacked on every hand. The members of the mob assaulted many Italians and Romanians who were mistaken for Greeks. The lawlessness lasted for three hours before a semblance of quiet could be restored.

The police gained control about 6 o'clock, but were unable to disperse the crowd. Every home and business place of the Greeks was surrounded by officers, who found it well-nigh impossible to keep back the crowds.

At 6 o'clock, Chief Briggs asked the Omaha city authorities to send all available policemen to South Omaha as more serious trouble was feared tonight.

After considering the legal phases of the case, it was decided not to comply with the request for Omaha policemen.

Sheriff Braloy will swear in a large number of deputy sheriffs who will cooperate with the South Omaha police.

An unsuccessful attempt was made Friday night to lynch the Greek who killed Policeman Lowery and this was followed by a call for a mass meeting this afternoon to take some action.

SCHEDULE AT FORT MONROE.

Programme for Monster Reception to the Home-coming Fleet.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
FORT MONROE (Va.) Feb. 21.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) President arrives on Mayflower at 5:30 o'clock. Battleships begin passing Mayflower for anchorage at 11:30 o'clock. Admirals and staff commanders call on President on the Mayflower at 2 o'clock. President begins personal visit to different ships at 2:30 o'clock. President leaves for Washington on the Mayflower at 5:30 o'clock. Navy League banquet at Hotel Chamberlain at 8 o'clock.

Log of the Navy Covering Map of the World.
Rear-Admiral Sperry and Rear-Admiral Arnold, who are in command, one of the returning fleet, the other of the welcoming squadron, figure in the imposing spectacle to be witnessed in Hampton Roads today.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

CITIES EAST AND WEST TO CELEBRATE.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Chicago will put on holiday attire tomorrow in honor of Washington, and in public assemblies and entertainments, patriotic speeches will be made and inspiring songs sung. While general business will not be suspended, the day will be a legal holiday. The schools and banks will be closed. The county offices will all be closed, and only the police and fire departments of the municipality will be doing business.

Washington's genius as a soldier and his mastery of the art of defensive warfare will be glorified tomorrow by Gov. Franklin Fort of New Jersey in a public meeting in celebration of Washington's Birthday at the Auditorium Theater. While there will be no elaborate decorations, thousands of flags will fly from residences and public buildings, and in some cases the bunting that supplied the strenuous weather of Lincoln week will again be brought into use.

Numerous social events will mark the day, all of the women's clubs holding regular meetings, having arranged special Washington programmes.

The two general demonstrations announced are those to be conducted by the Union League Club. One will be at the Auditorium Theater, the other at Orchestra Hall. Gov. John Franklin Fort of New Jersey will speak at both meetings and also at a banquet to be given at the Union League Club rooms in the evening.

William Dudley Foulke of Indiana will talk on "The Freedom of the Press," and Dr. W. M. Striker, president of Hamilton College, and J. J. Willett of Alabama, will respond to theasts.

"Pat Crows, the reformed bandit," will speak at a noon meeting at Wil-

At the Churches Yesterday.

Authority.
An sermon on "Authority" at the First Unitarian Church yesterday, by the pastor, Rev. E. Stanton Hodgson, drew a sharp contrast between the old form of authority, which was autocratic and external, and the higher, or inner authority of recognition of truth and right, he said in part:

"The emphasis is everywhere passing over from the external to the internal conception of authority in every department of life. In the outside world, our police force, our jails, our army and navy; on the other, our schools, libraries, improvement societies, parks, clubs, social settlements and all those institutions that appeal to the higher nature of man and that tend to awaken the higher sense of responsibility within us. It is most significant that just in proportion as these latter become prominent, the need of the former diminishes."

"But an even more noticeable change is the way in which this higher authority is being recognized. It is no longer assumed the attitude of the autocrat. He assumes the attitude of a friend who tries to arrange differences and to send people away friendly to each other and seeing things alike because they have risen to a higher level of life. Prisoners are rapidly being replaced by reformatories. Instead of prisoners being forever made to feel the strong arm of law upon them, this is kept as completely in the background as possible. They are subjected to that treatment which will build up within them a sense of responsibility—best prepared them for citizenship that when they return to the world, the inner and higher sense of authority will be sufficient. The new spirit is entering our police systems. The up-to-date police officer goes into his neighborhood simply as the representative of some external physical power, but as a friend and helper, even the officers in our army and navy are coming to more and more regard themselves as diplomats who are to establish friendly relations with foreign people, rather than as fighters to overcome them."

"This higher idea of authority is revolutionizing our religious institutions and ideas as well. God was formerly regarded as a great external despot who ruled us with arbitrary power. The church was an external institution that took possession of us and disposed of us summarily. Divinity was now recognized as that power within which causes us to rise to the higher level, and the church as an institution for mutual aid and cooperation to which we may help each other in finding the God within."

God in the Clouds.

At the New Jerusalem Christian Church, yesterday morning, Rev. J. E. Colman's theme was: "Behold, He cometh with clouds." In the course of the sermon, he said in part:

"Two comings of the Lord are taught in scripture: one in human flesh in the person of His Son, the Anointed Savior; the other, in the clouds of heaven. His first coming was predicted by the prophets, and heralded by the angels of the New Testament. It was a wonderful event, turning point in the history of humanity; but it was with a temporary revelation. It was to be followed by a permanent, universal presence. In this second manifestation He is to reveal His glory to the minds of men and His power in their hearts by His spirit through the preaching of the gospel, the Word of God."

"It was of this second revelation of Himself that He spoke when He addressed the high priest, saying, 'Henceforth you shall see the Son of man sitting at the right hand of power, and coming on the clouds of heaven.' This was fulfilled from the day of Pentecost, through the preaching of the apostles."

"The scriptures teach that Jehovah maketh clouds His chariot, that He rideth upon a swift cloud. It was by means of a pillar of cloud that He was present with Israel in the wilderness and led them to the land of promise. He descended in a cloud on Mount Sinai and thence spoke His law to Moses and to the children of Israel. When Jesus was transfigured on the mount, Moses and Elijah were seen talking with Him, and a bright cloud encompassed them. When the Savior ascended from Olivet He entered into a pillar of cloud that moved from the apostles' sight. He announced that at the end of the age 'the Son of man should come on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.'"

"The clouds of heaven are the literal or historical facts of divine revelation, for it is by means of these that the Savior discloses His enlightening truth and saving power to men. These gospel facts, like clouds, adapt heavenly truth and beauty to our feeble comprehension. When such facts are contemplated, He can give lightning flashes of perception of His glory, wisdom and providence; and from these clouds He utters His voice like thunder. He ever dwells in the clouds of heaven, and by means of them He comes to every man and woman on earth."

"By the brightness of our Lord's coming on the clouds of heaven He will bring to naught the works of darkness and every anti-Christian institution and practice. His word is night, and will prevail."

Universalism and Forgiveness.

At the Universalist services in Cummick Hall yesterday the pastor, Rev. E. Ellwood Nash, D.D., gave the doctrine of forgiveness as held by his church. He said in part:

"Forgiveness may be said to hold the place in the doctrine of theology which character does in the liberal view. It emphasizes the strained relations between the sinner and his God, the supreme necessity for an exercise of divine pardon in order that the offender may be kept out of hell. This brings out the radical contrast between mechanical and moral religion. 'There is supposed to be an all-powerful insuperable difficulty in the way of God's forgiving the sinner. It is not merely that He is personally alienated and angry, but that the nature of the transgression is so heinous that it cannot be forgiven. An example may be made, so that the world may witness with horror the heinousness of a guilt. And abstract justice demands its toll. Thus we are told that the sacrifice of Christ was indispensable in order that God may be justified in readmitting His prodigals to favor.'"

"In the thought of Universalism all this is foregone and antagonistic to the gospel. There we learn nothing of a hampered God, who is the victim of some ill necessity in the nature of things, and thereby prevented from the expression of His merciful disposition. Even less do we read of a God who is vindictive. Divine grace must be propitiated. Instead we are introduced to a Father, whose heart never changes toward His children, whose great concern is not for some structure of government but for the reconciliation of the sinner to Himself, and for their happiness in heaven."

"We take note that the scriptures do not speak of the remission of pay a penny to propagate its tenets. Its missionary ardor is lukewarm in comparison to the zeal the Mohammedan manifests as he reaches out to take the world for Mahomet. What is there in Christianity to recommend it to all peoples?"

"Frankly, as at present constituted, very little. What rational mind really wishes to assist in perpetuating a religious strife and bitterness on foreign shores? What gain would come from a religious war? The world is being drawn into a narrow Baptist, or a good Conscientious, or a good Congregationalist into a bigoted Congregationist? Before Christianity can become the religion of the world it must win the triumph of making its devotees at home love one another."

"First, there are happy indications that the jarring sects are outgrowing their sectarianism. The spirit of the age is toward unity. The denominations are coming together. The union of forces will restore the early enthusiasm of the world. The gospel of Jesus will be propagated and the outlook will be greatly changed."

"Christianity is intended for the world. It is a missionary religion. Its power was the power of the world, and it is intended for all men; though born of Jewish parents, He was not exclusively Jewish. He lived for men and died for the world. He belongs to the world. His instructions to His disciples are: 'Go ye into all the world and disciple all nations.'"

"Christianity, as represented by Christ, has done more for the world than any other religion. If true to its Author, it carries light and life. It extinguishes no lights; it increases them. It destroys no institutions; it fulfills them. It asks of all peoples: 'What can I do for you? I am coming to you, and to keep from freezing it was necessary to kill three of the dogs. I spent twenty-four hours on the ice, expecting every minute to go to eternity, but I was finally rescued.'"

"When a young man I, like most young people, thought the best way to live was to get as much fun out of life as possible, and I believed the more I spent on myself, the better. I happened to attend one of Moody's lectures in London in 1882, and my view of life changed. I was a young surgeon in London, and I found that there was not much in such amusements as I had been used to."

"I believe that Christ is the Son of God. I want other men to believe that and I want to save them from sin, but you will never convince a sinner that Christ is the Son of God by merely arguing with them."

"He also told of how the sick were cured, of the erection of hospitals and the astonishing fact that there is not a saloon now in Labrador. The pictures of the scenes in the northern country were then shown and explained. The church was crowded and a musical programme was rendered before the speaking."

"The editor of the Portland Oregonian, one of the acknowledged great journalists of this country, a man who does not write from the viewpoint of a church man, says in an editorial: 'The fact is that the commercial spirit has taken possession of the dramatist's box office. The only question either one cares to ask is: will it draw? To this end we have drunk and adultery portrayed as exciting, and the most virtuous of the libertines of both sexes, escapades are treated as harmless pleasures, and complicated situations are created in which the sense of right and wrong is hopelessly confused. Every play in which the motive power turns about the sexual passion is indecent. Every wrong is wronged, guided over with wit, humor and beauty is immoral. Every play where the marriage is treated as anything else than sacred and irrefragable sets the foundation of society to crumbling.'"

"Probably the most faithful characterization of the present day theater has been given to us recently by William Winter, the most distinguished dramatic critic of our day. He says: 'Our theater is still largely in the clutches of hucksters bent on appealing to the lower instincts of the human mind. You cannot delude the human mind for two or three hours with the silly details of depravity, disease and crime, and then purify it with a little splash of moral purity.'"

"A brilliant young actress, when pressed for a reason why she always played the part of the most virtuous characters, frankly confessed that these parts were forced upon her by her managers. 'This is evil in its own form,' she said, 'but the representations of a talented and beautiful woman.'"

"But who is responsible for this decadence of public taste? Can it be charged against the church, the public school, the public library, the daily paper? Doubtless all these agencies ought to be much more active in promoting high ideals among the people, but it is fair to the records of recent years to assert that any of these is the cause of a degeneration of public taste? If the theater were to return to its own ancient classic ideals, the drama might become an ennobling influence."

"Twenty-five years ago it was frequently said that the church and theater and give their support to each other, and the more the play, the more the church people do today unblinking attend the theater; and during these years the drama has steadily deteriorated and has followed a downward path. The theater cannot be reformed from the outside; it must come from within."

"Did you ever know a man who frequented the theater who was fond of the prayer meeting, or who regularly attended family prayer in his own home? The words of the celebrated actor, Macready, ought to be remembered. He said: 'None of my children shall ever, with my consent, or on any pretense enter a theater. Any amusement which will contaminate the youth will just as surely debauch those who are matured.'"

"PATRON SAINT OF LABRADOR" ADDRESSES Y.M.C.A.

Adventures of Medical Missionary on Frozen Seas and Rocky Coast. Dr. Grenfell Explains How He Took up the Hazardous Work of Reform Among Fishermen.

A narrative of peril on a floating ice cake off the coast of Labrador was a feature of the address yesterday of Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, "patron saint" of that faraway land. The address was under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. at the First Methodist Church.

"One day I was called to attend a patient several miles away. The required travel with dogs and sleds," said Dr. Grenfell. "There was a bay on the route and we could cut off a few miles by crossing it on ice. My companions feared that the ice was not thick enough to support our weight and went around the shore. I started across but had not gone far when the ice gave way, throwing me into the water. I, with the dogs, managed to climb on to a piece of floating ice, and to keep from freezing it was necessary to kill three of the dogs. I spent twenty-four hours on the ice, expecting every minute to go to eternity, but I was finally rescued."

"When a young man I, like most young people, thought the best way to live was to get as much fun out of life as possible, and I believed the more I spent on myself, the better. I happened to attend one of Moody's lectures in London in 1882, and my view of life changed. I was a young surgeon in London, and I found that there was not much in such amusements as I had been used to."

"I believe that Christ is the Son of God. I want other men to believe that and I want to save them from sin, but you will never convince a sinner that Christ is the Son of God by merely arguing with them."

"He also told of how the sick were cured, of the erection of hospitals and the astonishing fact that there is not a saloon now in Labrador. The pictures of the scenes in the northern country were then shown and explained. The church was crowded and a musical programme was rendered before the speaking."

CONCLUSION OF VISIT.
The President will return at once to Washington, arriving there early Tuesday morning.
Tomorrow night Admiral Sperry and seventy-five officers of the fleet will be the guests of the Navy League at the Chamberlin Hotel. The league will hold its annual meeting at noon Tuesday in the Chamberlin.
"FIGHTING BOB" WILL NOT BE PRESENT.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There was great excitement in navy circles today when it was learned that Rear-Admiral R. D. Evans, United States Navy, retired, who gave the order under which the battleship fleet steamed from Hampton Roads a year ago last December, was not included among the guests to greet its return.
"Fighting Bob" appears to have been overlooked in the making up of both the President's party, and that made up principally of members of the naval committee which makes the trip on the Dolphin. Most of the pilgrims to Hampton Roads left Washington before this morning's sunrise to get in the front-row places. Those remaining raised a tumult when they thought they discovered a grave omission in the part of those in a position to include Rear-Admiral Evans in the list of guests.
At the White House an inquiry as to why Admiral Evans was not included in the navy party was answered with the information that he was away out West on a lecturing tour. Mr. Roosevelt to Rear-Admiral Evans was so convinced that he brought the party to the White House. Secretary Foster stated that no invitation had been sent by the President to Rear-Admiral Evans in the list of guests.
Amid the plaudits of the assembled throng which had gathered at the navy yard, President Roosevelt and party aboard the U.S.S. Mayflower, sailed shortly before dark this evening for Hampton Roads, where he will welcome the returning battleship fleet tomorrow.
As the Mayflower swung out into the Potomac, promptly at 8 p.m. the crowd broke out into cheers and the President, raising his hat, called out: "Good-by, and good luck."
The Mayflower proceeded down the Potomac at moderate speed to its anchorage off the "Tail of the Horsehoe" at Hampton Roads, at the same spot where the President said good-by to the fleet on its voyage around the world.
In addition to the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, those who made up the Mayflower party were: Miss Ethel Roosevelt, Kormit and Quentin Roosevelt, Miss Landon, the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Newberry, the Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Satterlee, Admiral and Mrs. Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Capt. Sims, Mrs. Senator Lodge, Capt. Hunt and Miss Houghton.
There was an exodus of thousands from Washington today for Hampton Roads to witness the great naval pageant. The steamship lines and trains on railroads were taxed to their utmost capacity in handling the vast crowd.
The Dolphin, with members of the Naval Affairs committee of the House and Senate on board, left the Washington navy yard for Hampton Roads at 3:30 this afternoon.
A party of more than one hundred members of Congress left on the steamer Washington.
ADMIRAL BURIED WITH FULL HONORS.
NICE, Feb. 21.—The funeral services today over the body of Rear-Admiral Charles S. Cotton, U.S.N., retired, who died on Friday, were attended by the American and British Consuls, Rear-Admiral Franklin J. Drake, U.S.N., retired, Rear-Admiral L. G. Boggs, U.S.N., retired, Admiral Perry, U.S.N., retired, Maj. and Mrs. Webster Isaacs and many other friends of the late admiral.
The coffin was wrapped in an American flag and covered with flowers. The body was in cremated at Marseille tomorrow and the ashes were to be taken to the United States on board a battleship.

OLD POINT COMFORT (Va.) Feb. 21.—From a cruise of approximately 45,000 miles the United States battleship fleet has dropped anchor in home waters in a condition still fit for "a frolic or fight." The cruise has been a veritable expedition of the seven seas and tasks heretofore deemed for the most part insurmountable have been accomplished with an ease bordering on the commonplace.
The stories of the cruise have been succeeding chapters of reception, banquets, balls and merry-making, but back of all this relaxation and entertaining in the hospitable ports of the world and material which has placed the American navy in an enviable position before all the world. The engine-room efficiency in the longer legs of the journey developing a new and unexpected wide steady radius for a battleship; the facility in following the motions of the flagship in the fleet, squadron and divisional maneuvers which came with constant experience at sea, and above all the marvelous records made at the targets in Magdalena and the substantial accomplishments that have marked this most notable of peace demonstrations among the navies of the world.
The previously arranged schedule of the journey from port to port had been adhered to in remarkable manner except in two instances when violent storms made full speed too dangerous and uncomfortable. To offset these lapses from punctuality the fleet has made some of its longest runs two whole days ahead of time. None of the undertakings imposed upon the ships or the men has been too difficult. The cruise, however, was not inaugurated without serious misgivings at home and abroad. Victor M. Metcalf of California was Secretary of the Navy when the cruise began. After the ships had set sail from Manila with homebound bound pennants flying, Mr. Metcalf said: "When the purpose of giving this assemblage of battleships the privileges and advantages of a practical cruise was announced, criticisms from high technical quarters were heard. It was suggested that the undertaking was too monumental; that a battleship is too vast and complicated a piece of mechanism to send around the globe on an ordinary occasion; that dangers more than multiplied with numbers in such a case; that disaster lurked on every submerged ledge and was borne on every unknown tidal current; that the skeletons of some of the ships would doubtless be left in the Straits of Macellan; that if the fleet should succeed in rounding South America it was reasonably certain that the individual ships would, one by one, arrive with machineries loose and almost unrecognizable, with crews reflecting the demoralized condition of the material, and that a woe-filled spectacle of failure would thus be presented."

"As to the material, the cold facts are that the ships have practically taken care of their own repairs on this cruise. The repair lists turned in at the Cavite naval station were negligible."
TRAINING INVALUABLE.
That the experience gained on the cruise will be of undoubted benefit to the navy is indicated from the fact that probably one-half of the entire personnel of the naval establishment participated in the epoch-making trip. Three of the sixteen captains who sailed in command of vessels are returning home as rear-admirals. Eight other captains are returning in command of the same ship on which they began the journey of the world. From rear-admiral down to midshipmen, the training has been such as no other naval cruise ever afforded. Among the uninitiated men the training has been even more valuable. Landmen shipped just before the start and utterly green in the days of the deep, are coming home an integral part of a wonderful fleet efficiency, and loyal believers in all that the United States navy stands for. Descriptions on the trip have been few. The men have taken pride in the cruise, and it will be a constant boast with them that they started to the west from Hampton Roads and came home with prowess still turned in that direction. They know the world is round, and they know what it is to work and play over 45,000 miles of the watered surface of the globe.
TRIUMPH FOR SPERRY.
To Rear-Admiral Charles S. Sperry, a strict disciplinarian, a man of few words, but a recognized scholar and constant student of the higher arts of naval science, fell the task of directing the fleet on all but the first 14,900 miles of its journey. Rear-Admiral, Robley D. Evans, now retired, took the fleet out of Hampton Roads on December 16, 1907, and although ill soon after the start confined him to his cabin for a greater part of the way, he maintained command of the fleet until it was reached, and the first stage of the long trip had been accomplished.
Death has twice invaded the ranks of the captains who sailed with the fleet, but in both instances the officers had previously been relieved from duty. Capt. Henry McCrea of the Georgia, a most popular officer, died soon after his return to the States following relinquishment of command at San Francisco. Capt. Greenleaf A. Merrill, who took the fleet to the Pacific Coast, a capable man, also died within a comparatively short time after turning his vessel over to a successor, Rear-Admiral Sperry, who returned as commander-in-chief, sailed as commander of the fourth division of the fleet, being ranked by both Admiral Evans and Thomas, Rear-Admiral William H. Emory was the fourth of the sailing admirals, and he was retired while the ships were at Manila. Capt. Seaton Schroeder of the Virginia, Richard W. Wainwright of the Louisiana and William E. Potter of the Vermont were the captains who attained flag rank during the cruise.
REMEMBER LOS ANGELES.
Leaving Hampton Roads on a cloudless day in December, 1907, after a review by the President from the bridge of the Mayflower, the first run of the fleet took it to Trinidad. It was announced that the practice cruise would end on the west coast of the United States, but hardly the ships got under way when the fact became known that it was really Mr. Roosevelt's intention to have the sixteen battleships circumnavigate the globe. At Trinidad the first of the gayeties occurred. The officers and men of the fleet were welcomed with a banquet at which set a mark for all succeeding receptions and from that time on each succeeding port tried to outdo its predecessor. The climax of the fleet's plays of parties and receptions, undoubtedly came in Australia and Japan, although it would be difficult for the officers and men today to say just where it was the people tried the hardest to make their stay a happy one. Among the men, Los Angeles will always be a bright memory, for it was there that their first canned goods were on the trip and all entertainments were arranged in particular for the enlisted force.
There are two strangers in the fleet that has come back—the Nebraska and the Wisconsin, both Pacific-built, which replaced the Maine and the Albatross, detached at San Francisco, and sent home in advance.
The composition of the fleet as it returns is as follows:
First squadron, first division, Rear-Admiral Charles S. Sperry, commander-in-chief—Connecticut (flagship), Capt. Hugo Osterhaus; Kansas, Capt. Charles B. Vreeland; Minnesota, Capt. John Hubbard; Vermont, Capt. Frank F. Fletcher.
Second division, Rear-Admiral Richard H. Walworth, commander-in-chief (flagship), Lieutenant-Commander G. W. Kline; Nebraska, Capt. Reginald F. Nicholson; New Jersey, Capt. W. H. Southland; Rhode Island, Capt. Joseph B. Murdock.
Third division, Rear-Admiral Seaton Schroeder, commander-in-chief (flagship), Captain Kossuth Niles; Missouri, Capt. Robert M. Doyle; Ohio, Capt. Thomas B. Howard; Virginia, Capt. Alexander Sharp.
Fourth division, Rear-Admiral W. B. Potter, commander-in-chief (flagship), Captain Frank E. Beatty; Illinois, Capt. John M. Boyer; Kansas, Capt. Hamilton Hutchins; Kentucky, Capt. Walter C. Cowles.
BRIDE AWAITS HER NAVAL SWEETHEART.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NORFOLK (Va.) Feb. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following the return of the fleet to Hampton Roads tomorrow, Miss Gladys Imogene Hall of Jacksonville, Fla., will become the bride of Lieut. Alfred Girard Martin, U.S.N., the wedding to occur in the post chapel, Fort Monroe, at 8 o'clock in the evening. Chaplain Charles S. Walcott of the Coast Artillery Corps will perform the ceremony.
Miss Hall arrived here today from her southern home. She is a typical Southern beauty, brilliant and a leader in Jacksonville society. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kennedy Hall of Jacksonville.
Lieut. Martin is attached to the scout cruiser Birmingham. Other officers will be met here by their sweethearts and married. It is said, but their names as well as their intended brides have been so far kept secret.

Japanese Ambassador to England Outlines the Policy of Mikado in the Pacific.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
LONDON, Feb. 21.—The newly-appointed Japanese Ambassador to Great Britain, Count Takahira Kato, in an interview today said he saw no reason why Japanese relations with the United States should not remain excellent in the future, despite the loud talk of a small excited section.
"How highly we prize the statesmanlike and loyal policy of President Roosevelt in this connection," said the Ambassador, "it is hard to say, but speaking for my country, I can assure you that nobody ever conceived such a mad scheme as fighting with the United States."
Count Kato declared there could be no dominant power in the vast waters of the Pacific.
"We have no interests there," he said, "that can clash with the United States. We mean to keep our own sphere of influence in our own part of the Pacific, but not to the detriment of a single power, for we are not seeking any exclusive prestige."

FLIES FROM HOSPITAL.
Patient at Bellevue Caught as She is About to Jump from Sea Wall into East River.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Ellen Brown, 22 years old, of No. 222 East Twenty-sixth Street, has been a patient in Bellevue Hospital since February 5, suffering from a nervous trouble. Dr. Hoag and Baker went to the girl's cot tonight to give her treatment, but she objected to have them come near her and she decided to leave her for a short time.
When they returned, the girl had disappeared. She had gone out of the pavilion in her night gown and barefoot. She was caught by John Armstrong, night superintendent of the morgue, and his assistant, just as she was about to jump from the sea wall between the morgue and Bellevue Hospital into the East River. The young woman struggled so hard when she was captured that she had to be carried back to the ward. There a strict watch was kept over her.

PHILANTHROPIST PASSES AWAY.DEATH REMOVES MERCHANT OF NATIONAL RENOWN.

Last of Original Board of Directors of Pullman Car Company Dies.
Sale of Millard Canyon Property
Confirmed—Shakespeare Club
Celebrates Washington's Birthday.

Office of The Times, No. 12 S. Raymond Ave.
PASADENA, Feb. 21.—Death removed early Sunday morning a man who was a captain of industry during his busy life. O. S. A. Sprague, the last of the original board of directors of the Pullman Car Company, and the senior member of the great Chicago firm of Sprague, Warner & Co.

His death was somewhat unexpected by his friends, though physicians who attended him through his long years of suffering were prepared for the end.
All of his family, save one son, A. S.
Sprague of Chicago, who is coming as fast as the train can bring him, were at the bedside of his father when the end came, as was his only brother, A.
S. Sprague, of Chicago. The funeral services will probably be held Thursday.

Mr. Sprague came to Pasadena nearly fifty years ago and for a time lived at Sierra Madre, later taking up his residence at No. 1700 Orange grove avenue, where he died yesterday aged 70 years. He was known for his many philanthropies. The Sprague Memorial building at Pasadena Hospital was erected in memory of his wife, who died eight years ago. The building, furnished, cost over $10,000.

Mr. Sprague leaves four children,
Mrs. A. C. Miller, a resident of Berkeley, A. A. Second Sprague, and Miss Nancy Sprague of Chicago, and Miss Lucy Sprague of Berkeley.

RECUPERATIVE SPOT.
In an interview last night, Dr. H.
S. Stehman acknowledged that the men behind the purchase of the Millard Canyon property intend to make a retreat for the sick and afflicted, especially tubercular patients, out of the 280 acres purchased from the Presbyterian Chautauque Association, Saturday for $20,000.

"The details of the plan have not been worked out," said Dr. Stehman.
"The health camp at Linda Vista will be abandoned and as such will become extinct. Just what the men behind this project will choose to call their body of doers is not known at this time, but one of the features of the Millard Canyon property, will be that it will never bear the name of "Health Camp." We are simply calling it "The Vineyard," as there is a great vineyard covering part of the property.

As to our future plans and work in the canyon I cannot say, but I believe the problem of taking care of those afflicted with tubercular trouble is solved.

From all parts of the city yesterday were heard words of praise for those who have shown their philanthropy in acquiring the site, and the property
seems ideally situated for such a purpose.

IOWA PICNIC.
Many former residents of Iowa who live in Pasadena will go to Agricultural Park, Los Angeles, where the Iowa Association of Southern California is to hold its annual picnic the afternoon. Many officers of the society are Pasadenians, the association being organized in this city.

AUTOMOBILE NUMEROUS.
Hundreds of automobiles carrying many passengers visited the scene of the Altadena hill climb yesterday and all day long machines flew over the course, the drivers facing a sharp, cutting wind that swept down over Mount Lowe. Fast time was impossible under the conditions, although the course is swept clear of dust and not damaged by the rain of Saturday evening.

DAUGHTERS OF REVOLUTION.
On Friday, February 24, a meeting of the Pasadena chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be held at the home of Mrs. M. E.
Thayer, No. 631 South Pasadena avenue.

LARGE MUSICAL.
One of the largest musicals given this season was that of Saturday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Louis Elworth Ladin of Bellefontaine street entertained 200 of their friends with a delightful programme at the Valley
Hunt Clubhouse.

Potted palms, bay and myrtle trees were grouped in the reception hall and the ballroom has never been more lavishly ornamented with potted shrubs, and masses of green. Here chairs were arranged for the audience and Mrs. L.
Green presided over the table during the first hour, and Mrs. Henry B.
Stehman and Mrs. J. M. McLeod the second hour. Misses Maud Daggett, Cora Auten and Marjorie Bolt assisted.
There were 150 guests.

Mrs. Joseph H. Johnson, of 2000
Grand avenue gave the last of a series of two Saturday afternoon, which was attended by about seventy-five guests. Misses Leupke and Peterson presided at the table, which was beautifully decorated with Eucharistic carnations and ferns.

EVENTS OF INTEREST.
Social events of interest for the coming week include a reception this afternoon by Mrs. E. G. Cushing and Miss Mildred Cushing of St. John avenue, a bridge and five hundred party at the Valley Hunt Club Tuesday, given by Misses Helena Childs.

Churchill Clarke, a large progressive society party Wednesday afternoon at Hotel Green, when Mrs. George H. L.
will be hostess, a silver wedding reception Thursday afternoon and evening, for which 40 invitations have been extended, celebrating the anniversary of the marriage of Judge and Mrs. H.

LONG BEACH, Feb. 21.—Returning from a visit to an old friend night before last, Wesley Greenwalt, an old soldier, retired to his room in the Butler apartments at 11 o'clock. He was not seen about his usual haunts yesterday, and toward night his friends became alarmed and instituted search. About midnight an examination of his room from the transom disclosed
Greenwalt lying on the bed unconscious.
All possible medical attention was given him, but to no purpose, and he died at 2 o'clock this morning. Physicians say he had a stroke of apoplexy, and probably had been unconscious for hours. Deceased was 65 years of age, and came here from Greenville, O.,
last October. A son, Harry Greenwalt,
lives in Long Beach.

CONVENTION CLOSED.
The Los Angeles County Christian Endeavors closed a successful three days' convention at the Auditorium tonight, the churches abandoning night services. Four thousand people listened to an address by Rev. J. R. Pratt, an evangelist of Albany, N. Y., who spoke on the subject of "The New Birth." A congregation of about 1,000 people attended the closing service at the Auditorium, presided over by Rev. W. H.
Brown and Rev. R. A. Hadden. A junior rally will be held at the Plymouth Church. The new officers of the association are: President,
J. W. Davis; Secretary, J. W. Davis;
Merton Hall of Palms; recording secretary, Miss Turens Sorenson, Los Angeles; corresponding secretary, J. Wallace, of Los Angeles, and treasurer, George Wilson, Long Beach.

WASHES OUT TRACKAGE ON SAN
PEDRO BREAKWATER.DERELICT TIES AND RAILS ARE IN PATH
OF VESSELS AND CONSTITUTE SERIOUS
MENACE TO NAVIGATION—SCHOONER
UNABLE TO MAKE HEADWAY AGAINST WIND RETURNS TO PORT.

SAN PEDRO, Feb. 21.—A stiff westerly gale prevailed last night and this morning, accompanied by heavy rainfall. The wind moderated tonight.
During the storm heavy seas pounded over the breakwater and washed out about 100 feet of railroad trackage on top of the big structure, near the middle. The ties and rails were set adrift and this afternoon was floating about in the path of vessels coastwise in the channel and constitutes a serious menace to navigation. An effort will probably be made tomorrow to secure the obstruction and tow it into the inner harbor.

The schooner Berle Minor, Capt.
Dahab, which left this port Friday
bound for Coos Bay in ballast, found
she was unable to make any progress against the gale and returned this morning and dropped anchor under the protection of the breakwater. The schooner Ruby, Capt. Korth, which left this port Saturday morning for San Francisco, was unable to make headway against the wind and was forced to return to port.

The Pacific Coast Company's steamship City of Puebla, Capt. Shea, arrived this morning from San Diego bound for Seattle and way ports, eight hours behind her schedule, having been delayed by the storm.

SOUTH PASADENA, Feb. 21.—The handsome residence of E. H. Lock-near Mission street, was completely destroyed by fire this afternoon and only a small part of the furniture was saved. The house was valued at $10,000, and the insurance will cover only a part of the damage.

The fire was of unknown origin, no
one being in the house at the time.
It is believed by the owner that the high wind caused the furnace to work improperly and a defective fuse caused the fire.

The flames were discovered by neighbors. The Lockwood children, walk-first members of the family to become aware of the smoke that was coming

WHITTIER, Feb. 21.—Whether land shall be purchased by the commonwealth for the purpose of giving greater scope to the dairy developments of the Whittier State School is one of the foremost questions before the Senate committee on education, which is visiting the school this afternoon.

The committee is a special one appointed for the purpose of visiting State institutions reporting on the various requests for appropriations.
For the purchase of forty acres adjoining the 150-acre grounds occupied by the school at the foot of Philadelphia street, there is asked an appropriation of $20,000. It is stated that the dairy operated in connection with the State school and in which the bulk of the butter is produced, is in need of more land and more alfalfa.

TAKT MAY

Francisco and Alaska Next Summer.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President-elect Taft is planning to visit San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle and Alaska next
summer.

If he carries out this intention, he will visit Denver, and attend there a meeting of trans-Mississippi Congress; go to Alaska-Yukon exposition in Seattle, and then proceed to Alaska.

In order to carry out other plans he will have to do his Pacific Coast and Alaska traveling during the last week of July and all of August, and start south in September. While he is on the Pacific Coast he will in all probability take in all towns and cities possible. The Pacific Coast is the only section of the country which he has not already toured pretty thoroughly.

Taft believes it to be the duty of the President to travel as much as possible.

Gov. Wilson of Kentucky May Pardon Man Under Indictment for Murder of William Goebel.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES)
LEXINGTON (Ky.), Feb. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A report in circulation here tonight among friends of Caleb Powers was that Gov. Wilson will shortly pardon W. S. Taylor,
Charles Finley, John Powers, Harlan Whitaker and Capt. John Davis, the men still under indictment for alleged conspiracy to murder William Goebel.

The plea advanced by Caleb Powers and the others is that they were forced to do as they were told, and that it would be a useless burden on the State to make an effort to convict the remaining alleged conspirators. It is said tonight that Gov. Wilson has expressed himself as being of the opinion and that the pardaons will be granted.

Robert B. Franklin, commonwealth attorney, who prosecuted Powers and the others, has refused the invitation of Gov. Wilson to oppose the applications for pardon. He has said he will not be just as much of a farce to oppose as it was to oppose those of Powers and the others. He has said that he will not be just as much of a farce to oppose
as it was to oppose those of Powers and the others.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES)
MOUNT GILEAD (O.), Feb. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rev. Henry W.
Ireland, of the Methodist Church, declared in his pulpit today that there must be no more hugging and kissing
in his church during services.

"I think young fellows who come to church for no other purpose than to disturb the service, lean far over the back of the pew and press a kiss
on the cheek of the girl next to them.
It is a nuisance and must stop. If it cannot be stopped by the church, it must be stopped by the law. I will leave the State of any further stigma which might grow out of any other trial in the Goebel murder case."

as described by Charles H. Watts, a locomotive engineer, out of work, sitting in a cell at the Canton Police Station, where he had been placed after being revived.

"I took two doses of laudanum.
After the first one, which was about an ounce, I did not care what became of me. I then took the other dose. It felt just as though I was going to sleep, but it did not enter my mind that it would be the last sleep I should ever take. It was very pleasant—just like lying on a bed going to sleep."

"Didn't you fight against it?" he was asked.
"I never once entered my mind. But I could see my wife and child before me. That was awful. I did realize that I would not be able to help them any more. I could also see my mother, with whom I lived. That was awful. But outside of that, the sensation was very pleasant. It is the after effects that are awful."
